Northern Woodlands

A NEW WAY OF LOOKING AT THE FOREST

Northern Woodlands is a quarterly magazine that celebrates northeastern forests and the people who care for them. A fun read with a serious purpose, it's published by the Center for Northern Woodlands Education, an educational nonprofit located in Lyme, New Hampshire.

Our mission is to advance a culture of forest stewardship in the Northeast and to increase understanding of and appreciation for the natural wonders, economic productivity, and ecological integrity of the region's forests.

CIRCULATION and DISTRIBUTION

- Northern Woodlands has an average press run of over 14,500 copies per issue and paid mail subscriptions of over 12,000.
- The magazine is enjoyed as a benefit of membership to several landowner organizations in the Northeast.
- 90% of our subscribers live in New England or New York, but we have readers in almost every state.
- Our renewal rate is consistently over 80%.
- The magazine is on sale at over 200 retail locations in a dozen states, including local shops, national bookstores, and agricultural supply chains.

DEMOGRAPHICS

- Readers include woodland owners, educators, forestry professionals, and amateur naturalists.
- Approximately 80% of our readers own or manage land.
- 48% of them spend 50 or more days per year in forest-based recreation.
- Other frequent activities include gardening, birdwatching, walking, hiking, wildlife study, and cutting firewood.
- 50% of them are between 50 and 70 years old – a stage of life when many people have the time and financial means to actively manage their land and engage in outdoor pursuits.
- Approximately half of our readers have made purchases based on advertising.
- Approximately half of our readers never throw out the magazine.

QUALITY

- Professionally designed, the content is produced by long-standing contributors and guest writers and is rich with color photos and original illustrations.
- The 84-page magazine is printed on regionally sourced paper with 10% post-consumer recycled content.
